Hi,

Just checkin'in to see what happened to the "BeaBoard" when i go to it, i have the word "surprise" appear on my screen. Then, i am redirected here. Why? Was the BeaBoard deleted/cancelled?

Just curious.
Thanks.

I removed the BeaBoard because I rather have everyone in one place then two... and this yahoo group has been around since the beginning... also there isn't a ton of traffic, so the yahoo groups are just fine for everyone to communicate with... it would be different if there were 50+ messages posted a day with all sorts of subjects.

Take care,
Kev!

Of course, all her true fans would adore the chance to contact her. Unfortunately though, i don't think she accepts fan-mail, at least, not personally. Don't get me wrong, it isn't because she doesn't love or appreciate us, it's because of her age; plus, she just doesn't have the time....At least, that's what i heard.

As far as an email address, i doubt if she has one.

But, don't despair! She does have an address which you can write to, and receive a sort of "pre-signed" photo. Here it is:

Bea Arthur
2000 Old Ranch Road
Los Angeles, CA 90035

Hope this helps.

It may be too late for any of y'all to watch this, but just in case...

If you get a chance to see "Broadway's Best at Pops" on PBS, you can see Bea. She appears in a duet from "Wonderful Town" that was taped during her "Golden Girls" days. Other featured performers include Carol Channing, Ethel Merman, and Sammy Davis, Jr. From what I can tell, the show originally aired on PBS last fall.

No, this isn't spam...

The Golden Girls Executive Producer, Marc Sotkin, has kindly donated some of his personal Golden Girls and Golden Palace items for lucky fans to win. Each week for the next 6 weeks you will be able to enter a prize draw for the chance to win some fantastic goodies from the show, by donating safely and securely via PayPal, with all donations going to The Morris Animal Foundation, chosen by none other than Golden Girl Betty White. Once you have successfully donated, you will be entered into the Prize Draw. Among some of the items coming up over the next 6 weeks we have a Golden Girls Jacket and a photograph of Betty White which will be personally signed to YOU!

The first item up for grabs this week is a Golden Girls baseball style t-shirt. Entry price is just $5.00. This Prize Draw opens at Midnight on Monday 7th August 2006 and ends at Midnight on Monday 14th August 2006. Winners will be contacted via e-mail within 7 days of the draw being made and this will also be announced on our newpage aswell as here on the forums.

To view the Official Rules, go to:
<http://www.thegoldengirls.co.uk/Rules/rules.html>

To enter the Prize Draw, go to:
<http://www.thegoldengirls.co.uk/Win/win.html>

To keep up to date with winners and the other items up for grabs over the coming weeks, please visit our newpage at <http://www.thegoldengirls.co.uk/newpage/> and subscribe to our RSS Feed to get the latest delivered to your desktop.

Finally, huge thanks to Marc Sotkin for being so kind as to donate these items, and to Betty White for chosing such a worthy cause to benefit from the funds raised.

Attention All Bea Fans:

If you haven't done so already, please sign this petetion, to get Bea's great show "Maude" to DVD. A DVD release of this show is long over-due!! It looks as-though it's gonna take some real fan-fare (sp?) to get Maude released anytime soon. Why? Who the hay knows!! Cause, i mean "Maude" truly is one of the most entertaining shows ever, aside from also beining one of the most original. Plus, it stars our beloved Bea; ya can't get any better than that!!

Here's the petition link:

<http://www.petitiononline.com/maude72/petition.html>

Anyway, I just adore Bea, in more ways than one. And, since this is a message-board/group dedicated to her, i guess there's no harm in expressing it...

Although Bea has never really been thought of as a "sex symbol" i think her bold veiw-points, open-mindedness, caring, and all-around strength-of-charactor, both in real-life, and on television, make her one of the most genuinly sexy women in showbiz, or anywhere!!

Bottom-line, i've got the "hots" for her!! Gender's not an issue (i mean, this is Bea i'm talkin'bout!), she could care less!! I only wish we were 30 years back in time, and i was 20 years older. Just a thought...Well, we all have our dreams :)

Anyway, don't forget to sign the petetion. Once again, here's the link: <http://www.petitiononline.com/maude72/petition.html>

Thanks!

I have been a fan of yours for years...I grew up watching you on The Golden Girls when it first aired in 1985 and ended in 1992. I was eleven years old when that show began on NBC. I was happy to find out about Maude later and watch the reruns on Nick at Night.

I think you were great on the Comedy Central Roast of Pamela

Anderson. Your elegance and classy style is evident where ever you go.

I was wondering if it is possible to get an autographed photo of you? If it not possible I understand, and you will always have a place in my heart as the classy, multi-talented, comedic actor that you are.

Hi,

Just thought i'd offer a little advice on how to get her autograph. You might get one by sending a request and perferably a photo too, to this address:

Beatrice Arthur
 2000 Old Ranch Rd.
 Los Angeles, CA 90049

I found this address on a golden-girls fan-site. Let us know if it works for you, we'd love to here an autograph success (sp?) story!

Good luck!

That spoof was hysterical, Kev. Bea played an aged Sarah Jessica Parker and she was sensational. Abe Vigoda as the man she was after was just as riotous. You'll be pleased and surprised when you do see it.

I used to watch Maude when she first aired in the early 70's. I do not remember this happening, but three friends have said this happened. Can you tell me if this happened in an episode? The scene was where Maude and Walter were arguing. Walter walks out the front door as Maude is in fast pursuit across the room towards the door and as she grabs the door with her right hand she yells out the door to Walter, "OKAY WALTER! If That's Your attitude, You can go fuck yourself!" The moment that was said, she clamped her hand over her mouth in total shock to what she just said and then three huge words came across the tv. PLEASE STAND BY! Then the credit rolled ending the show. This was ten minutes into the show! We are to assume Maude was to yell " Okay Walter, If that's your attitude, you can go to hell!" I also was told that she was slapped with a huge fine for her mistake of lines. Can anyone tell me if this did indeed happen or is this another Dirty Maude story?

Maude was taped before a studio audience and telecast after the taping. If such a thing had happened, it would never have made it onto TV because the show was not a live broadcast.

I think the Please Stand By you're referring to is what happened the night All In The Family made its premiere. There was a disclaimer right before the first episode aired, put there by CBS, stating that the content of the show might be offensive to some.

By this time in TV, there were very few live shows. Taping in front of a studio audience often happened weeks before the episode actually aired. This gave time for edits and so on and so forth. I've been to a few tapings and they take much longer than the thirty minutes allotted for TV. One I was at, for Roseanne, took over four hours. It was all fun tho. The bloopers and the cast cracking each other up was more fun than watching the episode when it aired on ABC.

I used to watch Maude when she first aired in the early 70's. I do not remember this happening, but three friends have said this happened. Can you tell me if this happened in an episode? The scene was where Maude and Walter were arguing. Walter walks out the front door as Maude is in fast pursuit across the room towards the door and as she grabs the door with her right hand she yells out the door to Walter, "OKAY WALTER! If That's Your attitude, You can go fuck yourself!" The moment that was said, she clamped her hand over her mouth in total shock to what she just said and then three huge words came across the tv. PLEASE STAND BY! Then the credit rolled ending the show. This was ten minutes into the show! We are to assume Maude was to yell "Okay Walter, If that's your attitude, you can go to hell!" I also was told that she was slapped with a huge fine for her mistake of lines. Can anyone tell me if this did indeed happen or is this another Dirty Maude story?
 Mario

Oh, Okay! I told my friends who told me the story, and I called them on the carpet about it. We all laughed about it later. I told them with a story like that go and write a show. Foul language is becoming more prevalent on TV! As much as I loved bold and brassy Maude, it would be really funny if it really did happen, but I don't believe that Bea is the type of lady to use such a word, jokingly, or mistakenly. I corrected my friends about that story. Thank you for sharing this with me and also your taping of Roseanne. I am sure seeing the shows in person and seeing the bloopers is a riot. I can onlt imagine how the Maude taping went. Thanks aagain,
 Mario

My name is Silvia has 22 years and is aki of Brazil, would like to know if aki in the group has somebody that Portuguese says therefore would like to ask on some things. Kisses

::

Unfortunately, I haven't learned Portuguese yet :(But, I was proud to already know the word Beijos, as it is the first word of Portuguese that I have learned :) (It's my way of being nice to the boys of Brazil)

So can anyone here help this person? Nice to have a visitor from Brazil here!

Beijos,
 Kev!
