Kevin,

I just ran across a blog that corroborates your news about "Back to the Grind," a new TV Land series. According to blogger Debbie Campbell's September 11th post, she just completed work on the "Back to the Grind" episode featuring Bea.

<http://blog.myspace.com/index.cfm?fuseaction=blog.view&friendID=77360335&blogID=166600761>

For those of you who haven't peeked at Kevin's news page lately, be sure to check it out for some other nice surprises!

HIYA

I had some medical problems to attend to (a problem with the esophagus again) but am now back up and on my feet after a short stay doing another Esophagram this morning...many thanks to my hubby Peter for putting up with me. I have to go back in Thursday. So we shall see. SO today I took the bull by the horns and I have uploaded three video clips to You Tube from a recent performance in NYC. We are back performing as Bea Arthur and Judy Garland.

The links to the videos are:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LRSVSuGZtPg>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2h2x304IaT4>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=joN38Y2VugM>

I find that we have gotten a lot of viral marketing cabaret leads from this most unique of source.

Some folks have been inquiring about what else we are up to in terms of additional projects.

We are taking the J& B show to Hollywood in November and will be performing at the Bel Age Hotel there.

Peter and I are featured subjects in the new book "The Q Guide to Golden Girls" written by Jim Colucci that came out in the US on September 7th. So try and pick up a copy on Amazon. The details of our production "The Golden Girls: LIVE!" and its runaway success are discussed...and subsequent unfortunate shuttering.

We are also the subject of a documentary which is chronicling our lives (cinema verite' style) over the next calendar year. The cameras are following us in many of our performing, living, traveling, and working lives. It should be complete by next Fall. So expect to see more of us...and Judy...and Bea...and the host of other people we inhabit...Hey isn't that technically Schizophrenia? :)

Warmly,
John

Kevin,

Here is my review of the "Q Guide to the Golden Girls" book that was just released on September 7th.

Ok so last night I devoured the new "Q Guide to The Golden Girls" written by Jim Colucci. It is available on Amazon, or at Borders and Barnes & Noble. Author Jim Colucci follows up his "Will & Grace" book and gloriously reports on what many people consider the best TV show of the 1980s.... and perhaps of all time. The Golden Girls. This paean to the silver haired denizens of Miami is told through lavender glasses and I don't plan on leaving the house without them on ever again!

Jim covers why we are infatuated with this show. So much so that four gay guys got together in 2003 and did it for a charity run in the West Village called "The Golden Girls: LIVE!". Yes I was one of those guys and yes my life partner was as well and we are interviewed for the book .It is a four page section of the book that shouldn't be missed! However, I am not biased and never have been about my deep affection for these four women. As such we have been wary the many other times that people have approached us about being involved in any kind of GG project.

Anything we would do is a loving tribute. This is precisely the kind of work Jim has written. Jim promised integrity and humor in his approach to this project. He delivers both with aplomb.

Each one of the women who is able to speak did so with Jim in detail. Many staffers, and actors, and even actors who didn't get cast agreed to sit down with Jim. His dedication to this project (which took nearly three years to come to fruition) speaks further to his integrity and dedication.

Jim also has the rare ability to balance the thoughtful and profound of the facts surrounding the show and ancillary events. However, he also does this with a great deal of humor, candid and otherwise. The inclusion of several GG survey responses to some of the hottest celebrities of our time really plays off well. To think Ted Casablanca loves Rose I would have thought he is more Blanche! J I have a lot in common with Judy Gold's response about why she prefers Dorothy! But you will have to buy the book to find out.

This is a loving tribute that any true GGer should have in their Christmas stocking this year. This book is a must have for any gay man, flame dame (aka Fag Hag), Mother, and/or little sister infatuated with Lifetime's "The Golden Girls". After all Lifetime is Television for Women (and homosexuals!). So by the book this month for your Mom sit her down and watch a couple of episodes and come out. Step into the lavender light. Isn't national coming out day next month? I can't think of a better time.

New Judy and Bea Show Website and New Shows Added in NYC and LA

Hi folks. We have updated our website (<http://www.judyandme.com/index.html>) with new cabaret dates. Peter will be returning to Helen's for a few weeks for "Judy Garland in Concert!". About this show Joe Franklin recently said: "Judy Garland LIVES! Peter Mac is making entertainment history."

We will also be touring the show to Los Angeles and will be performing at the Bel Age hotel on November 9th as a guest of the fabulous Les Michaels.

In addition we will be returning to Helen's with last year's SOLD OUT Christmas show: "Jingle Away With Judy & Bea".

Of this show here are some of the reviews:

"I knew Judy Garland and am friends with Bea...I thought I was in the room with my two friends. You will feel the same! This show is delightful. Peter and John are now my new friends." ~ Sheila MacRae, actress

"The boys have it. It's not a drag show. It is closer to Shakespeare. Peter Mac inhabits the soul of Judy Garland." ~ Leon Hall, TV Personality

"John Schaefer is dead-on with his imitation, right down to the pursing of the lips and ever-akimbo left arm." ~ Out Magazine

"Peter Mac, in a performance that had me guessing his gender until I read his bio in the program!" ~ HX Magazine

"John Schaefer was perfect in his portrayal of the role made famous by Bea Arthur." ~ NY Blade

"The genuine affection Peter and John have for their "characters" shines through every moment of the show...and is surpassed only by the obvious knowledge and passion they share for the glories of classic Broadway/Hollywood entertainment and show music. That passion is contagious -- and the fortunate audience is the beneficiary." ~ John Fricke, Author

Look forward to seeing you this holiday season.

Warmly,
John

If you can find a current "Who's Who" listing, you might be able to write Gene Saks and ask him yourself. If that option doesn't appeal to you, perhaps you could go to your county courthouse and sift through old property records and determine who the previous owners were.

Way to go. I'm curious if you could find old city directories or something similar in the local history room at your main library. Perhaps you could give 'em a call. The reference librarian there could probably offer additional suggestions on how to find the info you're seeking.

Stock valuation can be considered as a tool for picking out stocks that will bring you good returns. Imagine buying a car without knowing its value, or investing thousands of dollars in property with no potential. Sounds scary? Yet, this is exactly what it amounts to if you put money into deals without assessing their value.

You took the words right out of my mouth! My goodness, i'd love that too! With it being the holidays, I can't help but do a little wishful thinking! I remember for Christmas last year, Santa (my mom, hee hee ^_^) brought me the "Bea on Broadway" cd. I listened to it, a little every night, for like a week straight! So, I wonder what'll "Bea" in my stocking this year? Maybe "The Golden Girls" ^_^.
Here's some more items on my "Bea" wish-list:

- 1) Maude dvd (I don't know what's taking so long with the release!)
- 2) Bea on Broadway dvd
- 3) "Mame" motion picture soundtrack (cd)
- 5) A Salute to Jerry Herman dvd
(I'm not sure if it actually is on dvd, but i saw a clip of it on YouTube.com and Bea was making a humorous speech about Jerry Heerman (the lyricsist for all the "Mame" songs), and then she sang her famously funny rendition (sp) of "The Man on the Moon is a Lady".

If anyone here has any news on the items listed above (esp. Maude), please inform me. Thanks! And, HAVE a H.A.P.P.Y. HOLIDAY!

I am sure I am in the minority but I think MAUDE is a much better show than the GOLDEN GIRLS. Funny but also truly moving at times. GG seemed too self-conscious of the jokes and the sex stuff.

When is MAUDE coming out on DVD?? So many shows like MAUDE, RHODA, PHYLLIS, and MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN [do you see a pattern?] are not skedded for DVD release. And then there is the MARY TYLER MOORE SHOW which is only up to 4/7 seasons.

God will get someone for this oversight. . .

I blame Philip.

Hi,

I do not have Maude on tape, but I was able to buy a nearly complete set of Maude episodes on DVD by posting a "Want It Now" message. The shows were recorded off TVLand, and the quality is not perfect, but--until the official DVD of Maude comes out, these will do quite nicely.

I'm sorry that I no longer have the seller's name or email address, but perhaps you can get in touch with him the same way I did.

Good luck! jav

It's the first time I ever hear about albums.. I mean beside the plays she did on broadway, for which the cast recorded an album. But other than that.. I don't know.. Sorry.

Hello Everyone

I have a question maybe someone can help me with. a few months ago, possibly over the summer, I heard an interview on NPR with Beatrice Arthur. during the interview she mentioned that when she started her career she had recorded a few records. one of which was a song called "let me love you". does anyone know if these songs/album was ever relased and where I can get it?

thaans for you help everyone. OH and thanks for having me in your group too.

Trina
