I agree completely. I just found GOLDEN GIRLS a bit hard to take, with elderly ladies obsessed with sex. Also, Rue McClanahan's phony southern belle accent always bothered me.
 MAUDE is clearly the superior Bea Arthur sitcom. I believe it will see a DVD release in 2007, which will be the 35th anniversary of the series' beginning. I will buy each and every DVD set of MAUDE, which I consider the funniest sitcom of all time.

I'm sure everyone has heard that "Maude - Complete First Season" is to be released on DVD on March 20, 2007 (coming on the heels of the February 13, 2007 release of the Final Season of "The Golden Girls" on DVD)

Typically, Amazon enables pre-orders, but so far, nothing appears yet for Maude, and few others show it as coming, either. However, Barnes & Noble is now offering pre-orders on Maude and their price is pretty decent, representing a 20% discount from the list price ($23.98 online orders only, $21.98 for Barnes & Noble Members). Use the following link, or just visit bn.com and search under "Maude" in the DVD category.

Best Buy also has it for preorder for the same price.

- Dear Beau
- I have a huge favor to ask of you, and I know there is a HUGE chance you'll even read this letter, but in my heart I hope you do. We had a hard year in 2006 with my mom being diagnosed with breast cancer in April and had a mastectomy and 25 out of 26 cancerous nodes. She has finally finished up with her chemotherapy and radiation, and she is getting hair back. In Feb. she will be going back to have the other breast removed as to take no chances of it coming back. With that said, this is the favor I would like from you. I would like an autographed photo of you to add to our wall at home dedicated to favorite authors and actors. I also have one dedicated to our government. This would mean so much to us! I feel it would put a smile on my mom's face...something there for a while she couldn't do. I can only imagine what life would be like if I had to give up one or two of my body parts as a woman. My mom is my hero and the wind beneath my wings, and my very very best friend and I would do anything for her.
- Anyway, if you could find time to do this, here is the information:

I think of you so often and hope your health is better. Is it an impairment of your vision or hearing? I can't remember.

So much for old age when you expect something to get weaker. I'll be 65 in March and seem to be so forgetful at times.

Say Hello to Rue McClanahan, Betty White and Estelle Getty I feel so bad for her and the lack of lucidity at times.

I just love the repeats, even though i've seen more than 2-3 times.

God be with you and give you with His blessings.

Hi everyone,

On Saturday I received The Golden Girls Complete Seventh & Final Season on DVD. My first port of call on this set was the Bonus Feature. I've never said that before where the GG DVD extras have been concerned ;) This one interested me as I saw a review last week which said that Bea Arthur starts to cry as she thinks back to the end of the show. This part was really moving and will hopefully do wonders to quash all the rumours about how she didn't get on with the others or that she hated doing the show.

I know some (many) of you will be awaiting the show on DVD so you'll want to see that for yourself, but for others that can't wait you can see a few screenshots of Bea breaking down here >

Hi Sam,

Thanks for your mail. I just ordered the DVDs yesterday, it will take a while for me to receive them (living in Germany). I had feared that there wouldn't be any good extras on it this time, but luckily that's not the case. I am sure I will watch the bonus first thing. Thanks for the screenshots!

I did a few online searches and didn't get far. My family and I have always talked about trying to find her and her son Matthew for my mom. My mom worked for her as a nanny years and years before any of us were even thought of and we all grew up listening to her tell us wonderful stories about how Ms. Bea gave her one of her first jobs in this country and how wonderful the little boy Matthew was. She always talks of wondering how he is doing and what he grew up to be. There is not much information on the web about him. Anyway, I know Bea came to our town to do a years ago, and I wonder if there is any chance she will come back and give us the time of day to try and surprise our mom...who actually is not my real mom...and not the real mom to many of us, but so many of us call her mom, cuz she has been their unconditionally for all of us as a mother figure. This is why I know that she truly cares and wonders how Matthew is. Does anyone know how to find Ms. Bea, or if we would just be wasting our time? Thanks...any input is useful.

Just the mailing address that is on the site and mentioned a few times in recent posts on here is all that is available to the public. So you could at least write her... probably shouldn't just show up at her doorstep :) Sounds like you have some interesting stories that you have heard!

Good luck,

Hi,

I do live in Germany and can't get any American stamps either. I always put some dollars in the envelope for the postage. So far it worked out great, whenever I asked for an autograph. Last week I got one from Betty White and she even sent my dollars back. So maybe you want to try this.
