Subject: Re: [And Then There's Bea] Re: the golden girls

Hello michigan_succubus and everyone on "And Then There's BEA". I can really relate to the idea of Bea Arthur and The Golden Girls being a great pick-me-up during times of illness and depression. Just watching The Golden Girls brings me so much joy and is definitely a safe haven when I'm feeling down. At times when I am sick, there is nothing better than watching The Golden Girls and having the best medicine of all - laughter. Most of my friends think I am nuts, but even in times of stress, I think to myself, "what would Dorothy do in this situation?" and I feel a whole lot better. I was very fortunate to meet Bea back stage in Sydney, Australia after a performance of "And then there's Bea." I got the chance to tell her that she was an inspiration to my entire family, and that she always cheered me up whenever I felt down. She was genuinely moved, and touched my face and said "You're very sweet." That was really a highlight in my life, and definitely a dream come true. When I learnt of her death, I was devastated; it really felt as if a close family member had been lost. I have been comforted by joining this group, and by reading all your stories - I know I am not alone. Thanks everyone! Spartan Hoplite from Australia.

I started college in Sept of 84 and didn't have a lot of time for TV while I was in college due to going to classes full time and working but tried to catch it when I could, but still haven't seen a lot of the episodes. I got a great deal on seasons 1 to 7 on EBAY and have a couple really long flights coming up and bought a portable dvd player with a 12 hour life so I should catch up soon with every show:)

I really wish they would put more seasons of Maude on DVD. I used to record it when it was in syndication in reruns and that was a real lift me up for me. I was born in 66 so I really didn't get to see the many of her shows when it was on TV and have to rely on reruns and the Season 1 DVD. I love how she would say whatever was on her mind. Some of the stuff she says seems sort of risque to say right now on TV so I can imagine some people got really offended in the 70s:)

You should also get the movie Mame on DVD. While Bea wasn't the main star she did have a significant role in the movie and it is a movie that always cheers me up as well. I have broadways forbidden treasures and it has her and Angela doing "bossom buddies" and that is something else that always cheers me up as well.

(ages 3 to 17). I cannot tell you how much enjoyment and happiness and laughter has been brought to my life by all the women, but most especially Bea. I've procrastinated for years and never did get a chance to write to her and tell her how important she was in my life. Her attitude of never giving up and knowing you can do anything you put your mind to showed not just in her acting but in her life. My nieces and nephews have not only enjoyed watching the Golden Girls but also were very interested in the lives of all the women. Bea was an inspiration. ... she will be greatly missed!!

I just want to say again that I miss just knowing that Bea is there somewhere. But now alas it seems that we are left with her many many pictures, shows, broadwaym friends, acquaintences, and beloved fans. That'll have to do. I sit down this evening to watch MAME, And I am so eager to gasp and utter praising words to Bea in all of her appearances. She's just so fabulous! Two more things... If you can... Buy all seven seasons of the golden girls on DVD (amazon.com). And Buy any Maude seasons that get released! They are slow coming, but maybe if the right person were to light a fire under the right persons bottom, we could maybe get more Maude released on DVD! I want to own them all. Beatrice Arthur is a hero to me, and I want to learn everything about her that I can.

Yes, I would love to see some reruns of Maude and think the Hallmark channel or TV Land would be the best channels for that show too. It has been quite awhile since I have seen episodes of maude. Another great show. T hink it is TV land that shows reuns of All in the Family and have recently seen the episodes of that show she appeared in. I may check and see if i can watch full eposodes of Maude online.

Veronica, you can watch many of the full episodes of Maude on Youtube. Look for username "TheMaudeShow", because he seems to have uncut versions.

TV.com, among other places, has episode guides, if you care to watch them in order, where possible--I do. :)

Yes, I would love to see some reruns of Maude and think the Hallmark channel or TV Land would be the best channels for that show too. It has been quite awhile since I have seen episodes of maude. Another great show. I think it is TV land that shows reruns of All in the Family and have recently seen the episodes of that show she appeared in. I may check and see if i can watch full episodes of Maude online.

Let's pass this on to as many people as possible. Maybe we can get a buzz going or someone will know how to contact Merv Griffin Productions to find out what's happening with the interview.

Bea Arthur's last interview.

We need to contact Merv Griffin Productions and see if entire interview will be aired.

Another Bea Arthur fan found this information on how to email or fax Merv Griffin - (Thanks Shelly)

I'd hate for an full interview with Bea or the other ladies in the clip to go unseen. Pass it along maybe we can get the interview seen.

I wish Sony would release the other 5 seasons!--as long as we're wishing...

So spark some discussion. :) Did you have a favorite episode or moment?

Least favorite?

"The Convention" is one of my favorite eps. I need to watch it again before I can adequately elaborate. I haven't had my DVDs for a couple of years. I gave it to a friend, who apparently never plans to watch it or give it back.

I particularly enjoy the eps in which it's mainly Maude and Walter. Their relationship is the most compelling element of the show for me, so I don't mind when others are absent. I am not a great fan of Vivian or Carol (I have a hard time forgiving Carol for her pushiness in the Dilemma episode. I don't object to the fact that she suggested what Maude should do, I just disliked the way she went about it.)

More later, when I'm sufficiently awake!

Christina

Woops. It looks like I mistakenly cut myself off for some reason. The remainder of the post should read:

A portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Art Attack Foundation, an organization dedicated to nurturing young performing artists of which Bea was a chairperson.

The shirt can be purchased here:

- On Sunday, April 25th we will celebrate the one year anniversary of Bea Arthur's passing from this world. Perhaps you could carry on her legacy by making a donation to PETA, Art Attack Foundation, or the Ali Forney Center to mark this 1 year anniversary. Hello all!! It's been a while!

Yes, things are slow, but still always like to keep us fans together. In addition to the yahoo groups here that have been going on for about 10 years now, I felt it would be smart to have a presence on Facebook. So, if you are interested here is the address for that ::

<http://www.facebook.com/pages/Bea-Arthur-in-the-Lime-Lite-Fan-Page/1054748394993/10>

Hope you 'like' it ;)

Should make it easier for other people to post their photos and stories... which I will eventually transfer from the Bea Arthur in the Lime Light, as well.

Hope you all have been well and stay in touch even after Bea has left us, ok!

Kev!
