The greatest site dedicated to Bea Arthur ever! And plenty of good pic's from her show.

#32 From: vectorlime Date: Wed Jun 6, 2001 9:51 am Subject: Re: Articles Yes, I am planning to make a sub-site of 'And Then There's Bea in Chicago'. I will post all my own experiences with Bea and Billy, reviews of the show, pictures, and all news article clippings from around Chicago! Give me a week or two to create this, been pretty busy lately and just haven't had the time!

So keep checking back to BeatriceArthur.com!

Take care all,

Know what you mean - July can't come soon enough - have tickets for both Saturday and Sunday shows - even though I saw her and met her last year here in CT am still very excited. She is a great, caring and down to earth person.

Maribeth

Maybe I'll see you there!

I would like to talk to you about lamb...mainly leg of. For those of you that have yet to see Bea's fabulous show, that will be very funny once you do. I had the honor of not only seeing And then there's Bea, but I also got to go back stage to her dressing room and meet this very talented lady. I had my picture taken with her and I would love for everyone to see it, but I'm not sure how to add an attachemnt to a posting...If anyone can help me that would be great, that is if anyone would care to see it:-)

Hi Matthew,
 You can post your picture with you and Bea by going to the photos section on the left hand side. It's pretty much self explainitory from then on. But if you need more help, just let us know.

Matthew

Would love to see the picture - I am going to see her in July - how did you get backstage - would love some advice - did meet her last year in Connecticut but it was right in the lobby of the theater - so many people around

Thanks

Subject: everyone is so nice!!!

WOW!! two people responded...thank you!!! Lauren, I still (idiot that I am) can not figure out how to put my picture with Bea on to the club site. however, I do have some advice that worked for me getting to meet Bea...I took 12 long stem roses to the theatre and asked for the house manager, and told her I had to meet Bea to give her these flowers...It worked for me, of course I saw her in the retirement MECCA of Melbourne Florida, so there really wasnt any one else that wanted to actually meet her. and besides I charmed the hell out of the little old lady usherettes taht were running the joint so i was a shoo in LOL. But Bea was very nice and very warm...I was surprised t how Dorothy Zbornak she really is in the way she is very willing to touch and hold hands, she held my hand with one of her hands and my face with the other the whole time I was in her dressing room:-) I hope that works for you!:-)

Bea sounds like a genuinely warm person and that's so nice to hear. Sometimes you get the big stars acting like they shouldn't be breathing the same air as the rest of us but Bea, aswell as all the other Golden Girls, sounds like a delight

First let me thank Kev for posting the pic..second let me thank everyone for telling me how fabulous SHE looked and not a word about me!!! LOLLOL Just kidding. That picture was taken in her dressing room when she performed here in Melbourne Florida. she opened the door and there was an open bottle of Vodka on the table, and I thought...she is my kind of gal!!!

- Just looked at your picture with Bea, Matthew!
My God, she looks absolutely beautiful!!!
And what an experience for you. I actually got sort of an invitation by Billy Goldenberg (for me and a couple others) to meet Bea personally in her trailer after the show in Chicago. It didn't exactly work out but I did get to tell Bea that I loved her!
That was wonderful. She is truly a warm and wonderful human being. Just love her.

- Hi all,
I finally uploaded the newest addition to the 'Bea Arthur in the Lime Light' website. It is a mini-site dedicated to Bea's show. Specifically, when she was in Chicago, but other cities as well. Just click on the upper right corner of the pages where indicated.
I still have more writing to do as well as other tweaks to the site, but i feel its a good start!

Your feedback is welcome!

- Saw her Saturday night in Louisville. Lots of empty seats, and I now know why!! I was so glad I hadn't paid for tickets. What a waste of time--Thank God it was only 80-90 minutes!! It wasn't painful, but pretty boring nonetheless. I've always been a big fan of hers--Mame, Maude and Golden Girls, but she made almost no references to any of these. I don't know how much people paid for tickets, but anything over a couple of dollars would be a ripoff. I thought most of her songs were just awful--terrible songs that shouldn't have been written, let alone sung, and she tried to pass off several lame jokes that I'd heard countless times before as her own. How sad is that? And she came out barefoot! Gross. I know she hurt her ankle and everything (perhaps she should have taken that as a sign that the show wasn't meant to be), but still, she should have got some slippers or something. Her 78-year-old feet are rather ghastly--I was a good distance away and was still grossed out. I still like her as an actress and a person, but I think she has a long way to go before she gets this mess ready for Broadway!!!!

How dare you post a message like this to a fan club. I seen the show twice so far and thought it was an amazing performance. Granted, I did hear those jokes before, but if you were paying attention to the show, she mentioned that the first joke was given to her by a friend to read at his funeral. She never said that she made it up herself.

I'm sorry that you didn't like it, but everyone that I've talked to that has seen it has enjoyed it very much, and I am going to pay the $47 a ticket to go and see her again when she comes to Indy.

You realize that she is a big name on Broadway already, right?
 Isn't that right guys? Correct me if I am wrong....but the way I remember it is that she has been doing shows on stage for many many many....years...even before TV.

Subject: From England

Hi All

I'd appreciate feedback on whether you feel the show is genuinely worth me travelling from England to see??? I'm giving it really serious thought. I adore Bea, and at 78 how many more chances are there going to be to see her? I mailed the theatre she's going to in Florida in the Autumn and they were extremely helpful, but I'd like feedback from genuine Bea fans. Thanks.
Leece
