I know, I agree!!!! Thank you, thank you
Ironicwit!!! The pictures at Bea's Kick-Off are awesome! Bea looks so amazingly beautiful. Truly. And it was very cool to see some of the people who were there for her!

I will for sure be tuning into the Sunday Morning News bright and early!!!!

Take care everybody! Thanks again Ironicwit!!!!

While on Maude, Bea played a funny game with a kid by poking her head in and out from a door jam. She recited a little poem at the same time that ended with, "You'll never get me." And it ended with Bea yanking her head back from sight with her hand. Does anyone remember that? I'd sure like to know how the whole poem goes. Thanks

For anyone wishing that there was an Intimate Portrait of Bea on Lifetime... we got a mini version today... and was it ever so perfect! My jaw was dropped open when watching Bea on CBS Sunday Morning Show today. They covered Bea's whole career in a appropriate paced story (not like what a show like Hard Copy would do). Images of her early years, behind the scene footage of Maude, and many wonderful clips of her one woman show. It was too good to be true!

I hope all of you got the chance to see it today! I'm going to watch it over and over all day today :)

We have entered the a very exciting time, being that Bea made it to Broadway! She is going to be everywhere, so keep your eyes pealed! Looking forward to her appearance on the Rosie O'Donnell show this Friday!

Take care all and can't wait to hear what others here thought of her story on today's Morning Show!

Kev!

D'oh! I completely forgot about this morning! Though, I will definitely remember to set the VCR To tape Rosie on Friday! Kev, do you plan on putting up some video clips on your site from the show this morning?

Kev, you stole all the words from my mouth!!!!!! It was awesome coverage on her!!! Awesome interview, awesome clips from her Broadway show, and the behind the scenes of Maude was wonderful. It was way better than what I expected! I, like Kevin will be watching my tape over and over today!

THANK YOU SUNDAY MORNING NEWS!

I am so upset, I missed Bea on CBS today! I was out and had my VCR set to tape, but the timer never went off, so...I unfortunately was not able to see her. Hopefully I will find some way to see it! It sounds like it was excellent. Luckily, I still have a chance to see her on Rosie on Friday.

Here's one more tidbit for you: a "Newsweek" article about Elaine Stritch and her one-woman show. Among other things, it explains why she didn't get to be Golden Girl

I didn't get the chane to watch it either. I probably will though for Friday when she's suppose to be on Rosie, lets just all cross our fingers about this, lol. I also listened to the station that she was suppose to be on last evening, but they never even metioned Bea. It was so boring by the way, lol see yea

Hey all,

I'm successfully listening to Bea on Broadway's Biggest Hits! Though the show is 2 hours long, there are really spacing out interview clips they had with her as well as bits from her show (on the new CD).

I'm also successfully recording it. I plan to edit down to where it's all Bea.

Is anyone else listening to it right now? If so, let us know!

Take care,
Kev!

Check out the photo section here in the club if you missed today's CBS Sunday Morning Show. I painstakingly went frame by frame and captured some images that we have NEVER SEEN before of Bea!

It's been a day full of Bea for me :)

One of these days, you should be able to order a video from CBS. So, keep an eye on this page:
http://store.cbs.com/video_category.php?showID=102&collID=181

When Bea was on "The Early Show" a couple of years ago, CBS uploaded the video to their Web site; unfortunately, it's no longer there. That makes me wonder if they might do anything similar with this story -- though perhaps they'll just post the text.

Bea's show was wonderful. I disliked the fact that there was a lot of songs from other Broadway shows, but I enjoyed Bea's interview and her performances. It gave me an idea of what her CD is going to sound like. (I ordered mine last week...)

Kev,
your work on the CBS photo gallery is great!

Kevin, thank you for doing all of this. I managed to hear some of the radio show, but had to reboot several times, so I missed a good deal of it, including many of Bea's comments.

Thank you for the photos from "Sunday Morning." I'm especially interested in the early days of Bea's professional career, so I really enjoyed seeing the pictures of her as a young woman.

Really nice photos Kevin. I enjoyed looking at them! I didn't get the chance to see but by the pictures I seemed to have missed something grand, lol. I love the one were she is hugging Mrs. Rue. Was she on it too? Are you going to have something about it and her been on the radio on your web site? It was suppose to have come on a station here last night, but didn't even mention her. P.S. Can't wait till Friday to see her on Rosie O'Doneil, that show can get funny, lol... Bye for now, Rebecca

Yes it was on an earlier Maude episode where Bunny(Maude's friend from college or high school) came to visit and she as a VP at Avon. I remember the clip but can't remember the name of the poem - I will have to watch Maude again - I know it was from '72.

Here's an article that really isn't about Bea; it's more about her appeal for twentysomethings. It appears in the Feb. 11th issue of "New York Magazine."

http://www.nymag.com/page.cfm?page_id=5672

Her show is considered the "Best of the Week."

http://www.nymag.com/cueN/theater.cfm

Once the show officially opens, I'm hopin' that John Simon will post a review of it. But I'm not sure what to expect, as I'm under the impression that he's not exactly gay-friendly.

Galen, here's the "Maude" page that was put up in conjunction with Bea's appearance on "The Early Show" in Feb. 2000.

http://www.cbsnews.com/earlyshow/archive/0228tvland_maude.shtml
I heard about her appearance on the show afterwards but (thankfully) was able to see the online video at that time. But it's been a long, long time since I was able to get the video to launch; that's why I'm assuming that it's been removed from the Web site.

Yeah Ironicwit... the link to the video simply does not work. I have been trying it for over a year to get it work. I even emailed CBS and of course got no response. Just wanted to let you know, it's not just you that can't get it to work.

Take care,
Kev
