#1382 From: ironicwit Date: Wed May 8, 2002 3:08 pm Subject: Broadway Radio Show If you haven't heard the CD for Bea's one-woman show yet, then you might enjoy listening to this week's (online) Broadway Radio Show. It includes excerpts from Bea's CD as well as Elaine Stritch's and Barbara Cook's Broadway shows. (I've just listened to the first minute or so of the Radio Show, so I don't know yet just which songs are featured.) http://www.haineshisway.com/radio/ Reply | Messages in this Topic (2)

I'm really looking forward to June 2nd. After reading the Tony Awards special site, it sounds probable that Elaine Stritch is going to win. Jessica Reply | Messages in this Topic (2)

Good, I finally was able to listen to a good portion of Elaine's show. I love her voice, just as Bea's... very unique. Will probably pick up Elaine's CD very soon. But just one copy, unlike Bea's CD :) I just couldn't get into Barbara Cook's show clips... sometimes things have to grow on me... so we'll see.

Great find!

Thank you for those links about the Tonys and the radio show, ironicwit!

How incredible would it be if Bea were a cohost of the Tonys? Even though it is just a possibility, still, what a fun night!! :)

I can't wait for the Tonys. Hope everyone is well. Christina, that is SO awesome about the autographed picture and note from Bea! How thoughtful of her. Congratulations!!

Take care all,
 Dana

I don't have any Bea news to report, so I hope it's okay if I venture slightly off-topic. You can download a copy of the sheet music for "Thank You for Being a Friend" at composer Andrew Gold's Web site.

<http://andrewgold.com/sheetmusic/thankyou1.html>

By the way, last year Andrew Gold (who's a real cutie) was a guest on "I've Got a Secret," shown on the Oxygen network. The show just aired this afternoon; perhaps it'll be repeated later.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO BEA!!!!!!
 I would celebrate with vodka but unfortunately I'm not 21 until August. Darn it.

Take care everyone! Love ya Bea!

I was just at tvland.com to check on a certain Maude episode and it looks like Maude was taken off their list of shows. I don't know how long it's been that way but it seems like a bad sign since it was always there even though they weren't airing episodes.

It was really convenient to go to. Shame because they had some great pictures too! I sure hope they bring it back someday.

Well first of all, a very happy 79th birthday to Bea! :)

Also, even though I'm sure most of you have seen it by now, I just wanted to let everyone know that tomorrow night (Tuesday, May 14) at 11:30 on Nick at Nite, they are airing the episode of Maude's visit on All in the Family! (according to NickatNite.com)

Take care,
 Dana

- Uh oh... I wonder if this means that TV Land is going to stop showing Maude all together. Although it was removed from the regular line-up last fall, at least they'd show a few episodes sporadically. I wish another network (ie. Nick at Nite) would pick it up, but I think, at least for now, that's doubtful. Personally, I love the show. But I don't think the viewership is there since it got pushed back to an even worse time slot on TV Land before it was cancelled. :(

- Among other things, the section includes a brief article about the category Bea's nominated in: Special Theatrical Event. The article itself is online. However, Al Hirschfeld's sketch of the four nominees for Special Theatrical Event, is reported to be in the print edition only. Subject: SNL on May 21st

Here's a "Saturday Night Live" episode that should be of interest to "Golden Girls" fans. It includes a sketch about teenagers obsessed with the Girls. The episode will air on Comedy Central at 6 p.m. ET on May 21st. Unfortunately, the SNL shows are trimmed down to an hour for syndication, so it's entirely possible that the "Golden Girls" sketch will be missing.

Oh, Comedy Central won't edit out the GG skit. I've seen that episode [on Comedy Central] a few times, and it's always there. As much as I love SNL, I honestly have to say that the Golden Girls skit is probably THE most creative, funny, and unique skits they have ever done. It's fairly long, too. I snagged it on tape one time last fall, and it's just one of those things that I can watch over and over and over, and double over with laughter each time.

I don't want to give anything away for those who haven't seen it, but there's one part where I always lose it: When the boy dressed as Blanche says, "I'm more into Rue McClanahan now." It's become automatic, I always exclaim, "Me too!" Haha!

Thanks for the heads up. I've been wanting to get the skit taped in SP speed (it would be so much better quality than what I have now), but every time, it just sneaks up on me.

Bea news has slowed down so much that I hope y'all don't mind if I continue posting the occasional tidbit. In this case, TheaterMania sponsored a contest challenging readers to describe fictional productions that combine the names of this year's Broadway's shows. The first runner-up combined Bea's and Elaine Stritch's one-woman shows in order to come up with "Bea Arthur: At Liberty."
