It looks as though our Golden Girl will be appearing at a benefit performance for the families of NYC police, firefighters, and emergency personnel. The following day, she's scheduled to open at the Coconut Grove in Miami.

Hi Jessica!

 Yes, I really want to see the pictures of you and Bea!! I love seeing pictures of fans with Bea. Unfortunately, Bea is not coming up to Washington State-- or it's surrounding areas, so, I will not be able to see her. I really really really wish I could see her do her show, but, I guess you dont get what you want in life...So, that's why I LOVE to look at other people's photos and experances.

Take Care,
Lauren

I understand, Lauren. It's great to hear about and see other people's experiences but just wait til you have an experience of your own!
It's a million times better and I do hope that you get to see Bea someday. Just maybe you will. Can't wait til my good friend Kevin gets back because once he does, my pics should 'Bea' up!
Take care everybody!

Hey, Sophia505us--

Sorry, but I don't have any more information to give you. I posted that link a couple of days ago because I know that some of y'all live in or near New York. If you're interested in seeing her, I'd suggest that you contact the Bottom Line just to make sure that she is, indeed, participating in the benefit.

Ironicwit is right - I would definitely call the theater first because sometimes they say they certain artists will appear and they end up not appearing. Recent example was that many stars were supposed to be at the recent telethon for the victims of the tragedy and some ended up not appearing. Would not want this to happen to anyone.

By the way the theater is located in NYC right below the former WTC - I was going to try to get tickets until I saw that - from what I understand it is right near Battery Park in a not so good area - I don't even think the subways are up and running. But if someone does go let us know about Bea's performance.

Hi!My name is Mike and I have just returned from The Carpenter Center in Richmond,VA where I saw the fantastic Bea Arthur in her new show,"And Then There's Bea."Words can't describe what an experience this show was.If anyone can pull America out of its post-attack state of mind,it would be Miss Arthur.The show was warm,funny,and simply wonderful.As an added bonus,the entire theatre was made up of all the gay men who live in Richmond!I hope "And Then There's Bea" is recorded on CD.It is a show,an experience that I'll never forget!

Hi Mike,
 So glad to hear that you got to go to her show and enjoyed it! It is wonderful how she can pull together everybody in a room. The gay population was definitely dominate when she was here in Chicago, but it was also nice to see a mix of older and younger people as well. I too am crossing my fingers that she will, someday, release her performance on a recorded format. Can you only imagine a DVD of the show!! Unfortunately, it is very unlikely. But one can wish :)

Thanks for finding this. I went ahead and converted this to a MP3 file and uploaded to my Bea site. So you can download it and hear it easier. Its under the collection section, then audio. Its about 1.3mb.
 Pretty interesting too. It just goes to show how people can switch what other people say around so easily. There is probably a lot about Bea that we still don't know or ever will know for certain. I only wish she would come out with a self written autobiography. But, she seems to not be interested in that :

How very cool!!! I neglected to mention this earlier but when I saw Bea in St. Louis on Sep. 21st and as I was bugging the security guard about Bea, I saw the lady from the radio station. I was right there when he let her backstage. Also, when Billy Goldenberg and I were talking before the show, the security guy brought two keychains and gave one to Billy and me! Billy and I both have WRTH keychains! Pretty cool huh!
 I'll always keep that one!

 That is very strange. I too have NEVER heard of that or seen it before. And I'm constantly trying to find out something new on her. Wonder if it's just not very heard of or if it's a mistake?
 Wish I knew.
 And I've been wondering like forever now. Will 'Enemies Of Laughter' ever come out on video??

Here's another interview done for the San Francisco engagement. Although the story is already offline, it's currently included in Google's cache; that's why you won't be able to see the pictures included with the original article.

 Kevin, thanks for converting that radio clip to MP3. I still haven't been able to hear the original (it kept buffering and buffering and buffering), but I hope that I'll have better luck with yours.

 I've posted this link here. Just in case I haven't, this page includes a radio conversation with Bea and Jerry Lewis. It was done early last year when she was in Chicago for "Strike Up the Band."

 I saw Bea in "Strike Up The Band" in Feb. 2000. It was my very first time seeing her live. She was great in it. But it was nothing compared to seeing her wonderful one-woman show three times and then finally meeting her!!!

This page has a picture that must have been taken during a performance in San Francisco.

Earlier today, I discovered that if the front page of this board isn't updating the way it should be, then you can click on "view all" and see new posts that may not be showing up elsewhere yet.
