The first few paragraphs in this article from the "New York Times" discuss Bea's and Elaine Stritch's shows:

Just when you thought it was getting slow with new Bea news... :)
 Glad you all have been keeping up with what has been going on and will be going on with Bea. I have been horribly busy and it doesn't look like it will let up until after the new year.
 Don't forget the chat tomorrow night at 9pm (eastern) here. I will be here for at least an hour.
 Take care and talk to you all soon!

I have a problem and I was wondering if anybody else here had this happen to them. When I clicked on the link to read about Bea & Elaine, the New York Times webpage said I had to "sign in or register" and it didn't display the article. I really want to read it. I don't mean to complain but I can't believe you have to sign up with them just to read a little old article!!

In a number of interviews, Bea has described her show as being a bit like "Barbara Cook meets Redd Foxx." In case you're wondering who Barbara Cook is, you're in luck. "60 Minutes" is supposed to run a story on her tonight.

By the way, she'll soon be on Broadway, too. As someone at another message board pointed out, the Tony Award for Special Events could shape up to be a mighty interesting race between Bea, Elaine Stritch, and Barbara Cook.

Hi All,

 Sorry I haven't been around, but, I have just gotten done reading all the new messages and all the new news about Bea and I'm just stunned! Bea looks so good, and it's so great that she's going on Broadway! Way to go, Bea! I just wish I could be able to go see her!

 By The Way-- I love her new publicity picture, as well! It's great!

Thanks to all the people that showed up to the 1st Bea chat... all 4 people... hahaha! It was fun though to get together and talk about Bea.

I would like to do it again... and hopefully where it is most convenient for people. I assumed Sundays are convenient, but maybe they are not. So, give me your feedback and we can give it a try again at a different time. Especially, for people like Sam over in the UK. I never want to count you guys over seas out!

Thanks all!

P.S. Bea will not be at these chats... for some reason there seems to be confusion that she would be. I wish... but lets be realistic.

Katrina,

You were in the chat room. Bea was not supposed to be at the chat. This was a yahoo club chat between fans of Bea. I think Kevin said she would but then said that he was just joking in the invitation to the chat. Just wanted you to know that the chat room that you showed up in and then left was the chat.

I have been calling the telecharge number that they give in the article and they don't have any information yet as to when tickets go on sale. The show opens to the public on 2/17, but critics, etc, get to see it from 1/29 on.

Hopefully they will go on sale soon - I plan on being there opening night.

Nevermind Kev, you did one better than me. The first chat session I held in my club consisted of 3 people...and that included ME! It's very difficult to find a time that suits everyone especially as 4pm UK is 8am in some parts of the US.

Sam, would you happen to know when that Golden Girls trivia book is scheduled for release in the U.S.?

Also, I'm curious about something: Do Brits ever have difficulty understanding any of the American accents in our TV shows? Or does it just work the other way around? I've read that British performers occasionally have to tone down their accents for American audiences.

Thx so much for letting me know Matt.. I would've stayed in the chatroom had I known.. I was just so worried that I missed the chat with Bea in it.. I know that Rue did a chat with her fans hosted by another fan pres like Kevin.. just thought this would be the same.. I hate I missed it.. But will definately be in the next chat.. The time for it was fine by me..

You know, I think it was.. But it was hosted by her fan president that sends me email all of the time.. SGRABO... If you would like, I can send you the email.. but there was a chat that she hosted and Rue replied to all of the questions. I wonder why Bea wouldn't do an Intimate Portrait... All of the other Golden Girls did. Ohh Well, hope she will one day change her mind

Hi! The author of the book tells me they are pushing for a February release but I'll let you all know when that's confirmed.
I don't think Brits have trouble understanding the American accent, but I agree that Americans find it difficult to understand the British accent. In Frasier, they have a British girl called Daphne and they gave her a Manchester accent as another British accent, such as a London one, may have been more difficult to understand.
I watch a lot of US shows and can understand the accent okay. I think US and British humour does differ a lot and there are some jokes in The Golden Girls and other shows that only Americans would understand and I suppose that would work the other way around too.

pussycat00002001

Just got done reading my Lifetime Golden Girls newsletter. And here's what is said about Bea...

"And what about Bea? As her nationwide tour en route to Broadway continues, Bea took some time out to choose her favorite Golden Girls episodes. We'll be airing them as a special New Year's treat in early January -- what a perfect way to kick off the year!"

And I couldn't agree more!!! I'm so excited!!!!

P.S.- Since it looks like Bea won't be doing an Intimate Portrait, maybe Lifetime is trying to get her to do anything else that she's willing to do. For example, this and that Thanksgiving commercial.

Stacey (SGrabo) isn't the president of the Rue fan club. Rue doesn't have a fan club (unfortunately). Like myself, Stacey maintains and fan site and just sent out a mailing list mailing informing everyone of the chat (I did the same thing with my mailing list). The chat was hosted by Lifetime and Yahoo. If you go to either site, you can find the transcript. Actually, here's a URL
http://www.lifetime.com/shows/golden_girls/gg_rue_transcript.html
http://www.lifetime.com/shows/golden_girls/gg_rue_transcript.html
I wish Bea would do an Intimate Portrait, too. But I doubt she ever will, as she tends to be a private person. I would find it hard to believe that Lifetime has never asked her, as all 3 of the other actresses have done them already.

Has anyone heard? Telecharge keeps telling me that they don't have any info yet - to keep trying. Was wondering if anyone heard anything different. When I try to call the theater I get the telecharge number.

Can't wait till February - will be a good month for me - seeing Bea again and seeing Elton John and Billy Joel in early February for 4 shows!!

Thanks.

According to Playbill.com, the Booth's box office is supposed to open on January 7th.

http://www.playbill.com/cgi-bin/plb/theatre?cmd=show&code=B04&selector=Broadway

I'm curious if Telecharge would start selling tickets sooner than that. Unfortunately, the show isn't listed at their web site yet.

I did talk to Telecharge today - tickets go on sale this Monday, 12/10. They told me that the show will run from 1/29 to 3/10 with the official opening night being Feb 17th. Telecharge told me it would probably be hard to get into opening night but the previews would be okay.

Since I plan on going at least twice I am going to try for opening night!

Hi Katgirlnkc-

 None of The Golden Girls Actresses have Fan Clubs, except Betty White. Betty White's Fan Club-Bets' Pets has been running since 1971, and is still going strong today. The best thing about this Fan Club, is, that, it's official, and is endorsed by Betty her self. I am apart of Bets' Pets...I have met the Fan Club President...Talked to Betty on the telephone...And, I am Pen-Pal Editor of the club. It's a fanstatic club, and I urge you all if you're a fan or Betty's to join. You can get more information on my website--
