Oh that will make my weekend perfect. I was wondering what to do with my Sunday night and now I know...chat with a lot of Bea fans. This is going to be truly awesome. Will Bea be at this chat, you know like will she be sitting next to you answering questions the way she did on that Lifetime chat?Matt

Thanks for the confirmation Jessica. I'm looking forward to it as well. I'm watching 'Bea's Picks' right now, and am disappointed that there isn't more info from Bea. Just the same as the previous advertisements practically. It would have been kind of cool if they did a pop-up Golden Girls, like they do on Nick-at-Nite! Anyway, at least we know what shows Bea likes!Yes, you missed another chat! It was a lot of fun actually... lets just say a few of us club members got to

That's how my friend found out about "The View" -- by looking at the "TV Guide" site. The show's site still hasn't been updated with this week's schedule, so we're not 100% sure that Bea will be a guest on Wednesday.

Wow I watched them all but let me tell the names of them all, lol. Well "Grab that Dough" about when they are on the game show and Blanche and Dorothy win. "My Brother, My Father" this one was when uncle Angelo comes over the priest and Stan and Dorothy pretend to still be married. "Till death do us Volley" this is when Trudy Dorothy's friend from school comes for a visit and they pull alot of pranks on one another. I can't remember the title of this one but Stan has biopass surgery and stays with the girls during his recovery. Wow I don't remember the title of this one either, lol but this is the one where Dorothy thinks Sophia isn't really her mother for old friends come saying that Dorothy is theirs. So Sophia says I will go take t blood text to solve the problem but at the end that don't even read the results. At the moment I can't remember the last one maybe someone here will post it or I will think of it later. I hope this helps you.

Thx so much guys The GRAB THAT DOUGH was so funny, their expressions,, the works.. But I am not sure I know what Foreign exchange #69 and My Brother, My Father #69 is.. could you elaborate? Thanks So much for all of your replys..I had no idea i would be such the biggest fan of GG. It brings back memories from me. My godmother (who truly resembles and acts like Blanche honest to GOD.. Even the same height ect) use to toon to the GG every I believe Thursday night, singing that theme song was even something and I was only in the 6th grade when I started watching. I will be 28 next week and still watch the show at 5 and 10 every night. It is like a fix that I have to have, I know every show but feel like something out of my day was missed if i can't see the Golden Girls... Thanks againTrina

Well, I was rather disappointed. I was under the preconceived notion that Bea Arthur was going to be hosting the marathon. When I realized that it was just one commercial that played over and over, I was left with a rather empty feeling. Since I did not get to meet Bea in person, I have to rely on guest spots on shows and television appearances. What a shame.I have to agree with Kevin on one thing though, the chat the other night was quite interesting. I learned a little bit more about Matt and Kevin and another member of this club. I urge all the other members to get together next time there is a chat planned. We all could learn about each other and have a great time. Afterall, it seems unlikely now that we will ever meet each other away from our yahoo!club.Hugs to all,Galen C. Hodges

I added two pictures to our Photos section. When you see them, you won't think they are much at all. One is of Beatrice Arthur. Actually, it is a picture of the back of her head. You have to remember from past messages, Bea was under the weather and did not fell well. A lady that spoke to the crowd mentioned time and time again that Ms. Arthur needed to get something to eat and rest. That is where she is heading. The second picture is of Billy Goldenburg. He seems to get very little recognition for all his hard work. Let's not forget to give him praise.The pictures are not what I had hoped. I thought I had taken a couple of better ones, but my photos did not turn out. What a shame. As Kevin says, "better than nothing." If anyone else got photos of that night, I urge you to post them in the Galveston album.
Thanks.Hugs,Galen C. Hodges

Thanks for posting the pictures Galen. They still accomplish in encapsulating that time with Bea. Though, it didn't turn out how you would have liked it, it still was a Bea experience!And yes, lets not forget Billy Goldenburg. I feel bad that I haven't mentioned him more on my Bea site. He is a huge part of her effort. I remember when meeting Bea what Billy did for both Matthew and I to help out. He is a really sweet guy, with an amazing portfolio of work in his bag. I still laugh that Matthew gave him his stool at the bar without even knowing who he was at the time :)Take care all,Kev!BeatriceArthur.com

I agree Kevin and Galen. Billy is a wonderful man. One of the nicest men I've ever met. He was the sole person to help me meet Bea. (Other than the schmuck of a security guy.) We talked before the show and I got in that dressing room because of Billy Goldenberg. What a great guy. I can still remember how taken aback he was when he saw me and my mom. Both he and Bea thought we were sisters! Wonderful.Jessica

Does anyone know of a *complete* episode guide for Maude? I have about 30-few episodes, and I'd like to "document" which ones I have (you know, by season/number/title, just for reference). The best one I've found so far is at TV Land, but I don't think that's totally complete. I've searched through it on 3 separate occasions, and both times, and I can't seem to find the 2 part ep, "Maude's Face Lift" listed.
