No, I've never seen this photo before! Great find! Love the short hair style... refreshing from what we are used to!

Thanks!

Hey everyone,

I just got this weeks issue of the Advocate in the mail today. For some reason I had a feeling that when paging through it, I would find Bea. Still to my surprise, on page 52... there was Bea :) Another wonderful photo of her that we haven't seen before. She is perched on a trunk that is turned on it's side with a delightful smile on her face! This is so fun :) The article is titled 'The shows must go on' It also talks about other Broadway shows such as Elaine Stritch's.

Bea's on a roll and we're loving it!

Kev!

I can't believe someone said the show was a complete bore. I never got the chance to see it but by pics and just the way people tell me how she acts it has to be so grand. Just to stand and look at her would be so grand even if she never spoke, lol. They must not really like Ms. Bea. Rebecca

Yep, I've seen that.

Here is an interesting bit of information I just learned about how Bea got her name 'Bea Arthur'. It was from an article around 1985 that I found on eBay. It said that Bea's mother's name was Rebecca but everyone called her Bea. Well, our Bea apparently hated her name Bernice so she changed it to Bea, her mothers name. To quote Bea in the article "everyone called my mother Bea, so I took her name." She got her last name Arthur from her first (and short) marriage.
Just thought I'd share that with everyone.

Jessica

- This club is going to be a group any moment now. There have started the process! In alphebetical order, so this group should be converted very soon. I'm really excited about the change personally. It will give us more oppportunities to share images and files as well as updates.

In addition, I will be posting pictures here from the NEXT Magazine very soon. I recieved in the mail yesterday. The pictures of Bea are to die for. They just keep getting better and better!

Also, screen shots of Bea on Rosie O'Donnel for the some of you the might miss it tomorrow.

Talk to you all soon!

- I am not sure if we have covered this since I have been gone for over a week but, is there anyway to obtain a copyof Bea on CBS morning show? Did anyone tape it? Can they make me a copy? I look forward to seeing Bea on Rosie!

Andrew

PS: Kevin how did you get a copy of that NEXT magazine?

Andrew, email me about a copy of Bea on CBS.

And I actually got a copy of my very own NEXT mag on eBay! Right now, eBay is listing several of the very same magazine. Search for 'Bea Arthur'.

I believe you will also be able to buy the CBS show on mint VHS tape soon.

I emailed Next Magazine and asked them to send me a copy for an exchange of a link to their site (advertising basically) on the Bea site (which I'll be putting up soon). There is a two page center fold spread of Bea... it is so cool :) Best bet is eBay right now.

Wow, that would be great, as I missed it too! I didn't know they sometimes put their shows on tape for commercial release. I know that show like that often make transcripts available, but I've never heard of a video. I'd buy one in a minute!

Rosie O'donnell comes on at 3pm where I live and so I was ready to watch it when it came on, lol.
 She just looked so fabulous in that purple suit. She doesn't look much different from when she played on the golden girls. I thought the story she told was so funny, lol. Now I want to see her show even more. I am upset I want get the chance. Well I have to say she's still sassy and full of energy. That's what I like to see people that are in there 70's or 80's still living grand.

I doubt that anyone here could tell you much about Bea's first marriage, as the information doesn't seem to be readily available. She reportedly married Gene Saks in 1950, so her first try at matrimony would have occurred prior to that. During WWII, she was in the Marines (as a matter of fact, the G.I. Bill is what enabled her to go to drama school, which is where she met Gene Saks). I'm guessing that Bea probably got married late in the war or shortly thereafter; the union apparently was short-lived.

Does anyone else have any ideas on the subject?

I need to add a little more information here. Supposedly, Bob Aurthur (who died in 1978) was Bea's first husband. He was a writer; so, in theory, it's possible that they, too, could have met when she was at drama school.

I thought Bea was fabulous on Rosie. She looked REALLY good. I really enjoyed the joke she told "A Mother's Ingenuity", and also the insight there was to her show... For those of us who are deprived and won't be able to see it.

Yep, that she was Lauren! The whole thing was sooo very delightful to see. Rosie kept telling Bea how much she loved her show and Bea was so sweet and so gracious. It would be wonderful to see the show one more time on Broadway. THAT would be exciting. But hey, I've already had my turn I guess!!

Take care everyone!

Hmmm...very interesting. Thanks for the info ironicwit! Much appreciated.

Rosie O'Donnell comes on at 4pm in Seattle...I was waiting anxiously - VCR remote in hand - ready to record. In my opinion, SHE should have been the first guest - but she was definitely worth waiting for. I loved her!

I, too, wish I could go see her FABULOUS show again - especially in New York. I flew down to Thousand Oaks on December 29th and saw it - and met her afterwards. It was truly a great day. I was surprised to discover that we are the same height!!

LOVE YOU BEA!!!

Hey Everyone--

 I was having fun tonight... Ha! What I did, is, I took a picture of Bea-- The one that is on the home page of the club here, and took it into my photo editing program, and blew it up to an 8x10...I printed it out, scanned it, and then printed the picture on picture paper! So, now, I have a nice COLOR 8x10 of Bea now! It came out Really good.

 Just thought I would post, and say-- I encourage everyone to fiddle around and make some Bea pictures!

Lauren
